Death Dog Sidekick (Bonus Material)

Brought to you by DM Dalliance

We all know that the doggos in our lives come with alot of personality. They are each different, fun and unique. I wasn't able to fit the full personality chart onto my page for the Death Dog but I wanted to provide those here for you to enjoy!

To see the full Death Dog Sidekick (or 39 other fun animal and monstrous sidekicks including a goose sidekick that may or may not have a title), buy Animal Sidekicks available now on DMs Guild.

A strong caring hand can domestic this breed of hungry creatures into the strong companions that an adventurer needs. This first generation is still a bit wild though so be careful!

Personality Traits

1d8 Trait

1	Pushover. Their large demeanor and appearance scare off most but they are really just a big teddy bear.
2	Hunter. The Death Dog will wander off and bring back random dead animals as gifts.
3	Playful. Acts like a puppy and will start playing tug of war with any loose dangly bits on members of the party.
4	Destructive. If left unattended, a bored Death Dog will chew to pieces anything it can get its jaws on. Not even armor is safe.
5	Chatty. They are vocal and like to let you know their opinions on what is going on.
6	Unagreeable. The two heads can never seem to agree on what mood to be in.
7	Jumpy. The Death Dog is skittish around strangers and will bite if they attempt to pet them.
8	Possessive. Their person is theirs, no one else's and don't try and tell them differently.

ANIMAL SIDEKICKS

40 Beasts and Fantastical Creatures Ready to Join Your Adventuring Party!

A team of 33 writers, 4 artists, and 3 editors have joined forces to bring you "Animal Sidekicks," a sidekick bestiary that gives anyone and everyone in your party a pet, each with its own stat block and level-up table.

Modeled on the sidekick rules found in the D&D Essentials Kit Rulebook, these animal sidekicks, from allosaurus to wolf, are perfect for kids, new players, and the animal-lover in us all!

Available now on DMs Guild!

dmsguild.com/product/293883/Animal-Sidekicks

